

STUMP TRAIN IN CITY ON FRIDAY

Explosives And Machinery Will Be Used In Land Clearing Demonstration

"Clearing a farm in Northern Wisconsin is not the enormous task today that it was for the earlier settler. Live stock, explosives and land clearing machinery are now saving the backs of the farmers and making it possible to clear in a few years, an area which would have taken a farmer of the previous generation a life time." Carl D. Livingston of the Land Clearing Division of the University of Wisconsin made that statement at the close of a series of land clearing demonstrations and experiments.

"Dynamite is a very great aid in many land clearing operations. Of course when purchased in small lots it is rather expensive but when a community gets together to buy it in car load lots a great saving can be effected. By buying cooperatively, nearly twice as much dynamite can be purchased for the same amount of money as when bought in small and individual lots.

"There are now on the market many reliable grades of stump pullers which show real merit. These are not expensive and with reasonable care they will last until the farm is cleared. These can be used alone or a faster and better way is first to crack the stump with small charges of dynamite and then pull the shattered pieces. This leaves the soil in better condition and makes more easy the destruction of the stump.

"Land clearing, while not easy, is certainly robbed of most of the horrors it once held for the settler and farmer of the lake states."

Mr. Livingston has charge of a second stump pulling and piling demonstration train which is now being operated over the Soo lines in ten Upper Wisconsin counties. The train will be in Rhinelander, Friday, October 13.

MAYOR PUTS TABOO ON PUNCH BOARDS

Mayor Grant V. Clark on Tuesday instructed Chief of Police Straub to order the removal of all punch boards used to stimulate the sale of candy, novelties and other merchandise in this city. These punch boards, which are nothing more or less than a game of chance, encourage young people to spend money more freely than they probably otherwise would and also have a tendency to imbue them with the gambling spirit.

Within the last year hundreds of cities throughout the country have put a taboo on the punch boards and Mayor Clark's action was expected.

LAND CONGRESS HERE TO-MORROW

Prominent Railroad Officials and Land Experts Will Be In Attendance

The Stumping Demonstration train has arrived at Rhinelander and everything is being put in readiness to begin work at the Crofoot farm early tomorrow forenoon. A big crowd is expected both from the city and farming communities. The free dinner for the farmers at the grounds is a big feature. Several prominent men will see the stumping work here, including Dean Russell and Prof. Hatch of the College of Agriculture, the President, Vice President and the Agricultural Agent of the Soo road, Ford Allen of the C. & N. W., representatives from three powder companies and managers of several stump puller companies. These men will hold a conference late Friday afternoon. In the evening there will be a big open meeting to which everyone is invited. It is hoped that farmers will turn out well for this evening meeting.

The stumping special is doing a great good for northern Wisconsin and should receive the cooperation of every business man and farmer in the county. Stump pulling and blasting will be in progress the entire day. See all of it you can.

W. C. SILVERTHORN DIES IN WAUSAU

Former Circuit Court Jurist Leaves Many Friends In Rhinelander

Judge Willis Chesholm Silverthorn, who for many years occupied the bench of the sixteenth judicial circuit of Wisconsin, comprising the counties of Marathon, Lincoln, Oneida and Vilas, died Saturday night in Wausau, which city he had made his home for over fifty years. He had many personal friends in Rhinelander.

Judge Silverthorn was born in Toronto, Canada, Aug. 30, 1838, and four years later, his family moved with him to Jefferson county.

Judge Silverthorn was appointed to the circuit bench by Gov. Edward Scofield in 1898, two years after the latter had defeated him for the election to the governorship.

He practiced law in Wausau for more than half a century, and was a member of the legislature early in the '70s. Much of the early railroad legislation in the state was fathered by Judge Silverthorn.

He attended Albion academy and the state university where he was a classmate of John C. Spooner, former United States senator from Wisconsin, and was admitted to the bar in 1863.

During the war he supported the doctrines of the Douglas democrats and has been a consistent democrat from his youth.

He was nominated for governor on the democratic ticket in 1895, and made a vigorous campaign against Gov. Scofield on the silver question, but was defeated by a large majority.

He was prominent in establishing a free public library for Wausau and was first president of the library board, holding that position for many years.

In 1869 he engaged in the banking business with D. L. Plummer and his brother, the late George Silverthorn, establishing the institution which later became the First National bank of Wausau.

For six years he was district attorney of Marathon county, and in 1868 and 1874 was elected to the lower house of the legislature. In 1875 he was elected to the state senate.

During his career Judge Silverthorn was associated with E. L. Bump, M. A. Hurley, T. C. Ryan, G. D. Jones and other prominent lawyers in the state.

The funeral was held at Wausau on Tuesday.

11 DIVORCES IN COUNTY IN YEAR

Wife Complainant In Eight Cases—Charge Cruelty In Seven Cases

Clerk of Court E. C. Sturdevant has just made his annual report to the State Board of Vital Statistics of all decrees of divorce entered in the circuit court for the year ending Sept. 30th. Eleven cases in all were determined. The records show that in four cases the ground for divorce was cruel and inhuman treatment and in seven cases, desertion is charged. The wife was the complainant in eight of the cases, the husband in the other three.

Wish To Become Citizens Joseph Boczwieck of Jennings, a native of Russia Poland and Albert Walczak of the same place, a native of Poland in Germany and James Carlin of Minocua, a native of Canada, applied for citizenship before E. C. Sturdevant, Clerk of Court, during the past week.

The hearings will be at the spring term of court in March. Also John P. Madsen and his son Conrad A. Madsen, residents of Minocua, made their declaration of intention to become citizens the past week.

COMISKEY ON ANNUAL OUTING Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, members of the White Sox team and other notables in the base ball world passed through Rhinelander this morning on their way to Camp Jerome, Comiskey's private lodge, for their annual fall outing. Three sleeping cars and one dining car, attached to the north bound Northwestern limited train, accommodated the party. It is said that champagne and other beverages flowed about as free as water.

REGENTS NAME RHINELANDER FOR NEW NORMAL SITE

Not in many a day has a piece of news afforded the people of Rhinelander such great pleasure as that of Saturday night, when the word was passed, that the state board of normal regents had unanimously agreed to locate the next Normal school in this city. On every side could be heard expressions of delight over this welcome announcement. It has been suggested that at some near date a public demonstration be held in celebration of the regents' decision.

The final selection of Rhinelander as the site for the next normal school is the culmination of an eight-years struggle, and a decided victory for those who so persistently fought for the institution. Several other cities were in the contest for the school and numerous were the contentions submitted to gain favorable consideration.

Assemblyman D. B. Stevens, during his two terms in the legislature, worked hard for the school, making every effort in its behalf. Delegations of citizens appeared before legislative committees time and again. The first efforts brought forth little response from the senate, although the assembly carried the bill eight years ago next January by a big majority. At the following session of the legislature, two years later, a committee from the city council and a committee of three citizens appeared before legislative committees in support of the bill. Four years ago Senator W. T. Stevens in the senate and Assemblyman Douglas Anderson in the assembly did everything within their power to push the bill through. Two years ago Senator Stevens and Assemblyman D. N. Moran, with committees from the city and Rhinelander Advancement Association, including Secretary E. O. Barstow, finally succeeded in getting passed a law instructing the regents to select a site for a new normal school.

After giving the proposition long and careful consideration, personally investigating the advantages and claims of the various cities in the race, the regents met Saturday in Madison and without a dissenting voice voted to place the institution in Rhinelander. In all the fights it was impossible to get around the contention that Rhinelander is the most logical location.

As the New North understands it this city will be obliged to furnish the site, without expense to the state, as all cities that desired the school were willing to do this. It is not easy to measure the vast help the normal school will be to this city. Thousands of dollars will be expended here by the faculty and students annually. There will be a big demand for homes, necessitating unusual activity in building operations. In fact every line of business will feel the increased stimulation. It will be the means of bringing great added culture to this city and giving Rhinelander a place among the educational centers of the northwest. In fact it is difficult to attempt to sum up the benefits which will be realized through the establishment here of the normal school. It is sincerely hoped that the legislature will make an appropriation the coming winter towards constructing the buildings for the school.

Within the last few months a new hotel has been planned and is well under construction, a $75,000 postoffice building has been assured and now comes the new normal. Surely Rhinelander is prospering and progressing as it never has before.

ONEIDA POTATO SHOW IN THIS CITY OCT. 26

The premium list for our third Annual County Potato Show to be held at Rhinelander, Oct. 26 is completed and will be published in full next week. Cups of different sizes will be awarded to the first prize winners in the seven standard varieties. There will be ten prizes for Green Mountains, seven for Triumph, four for Rural, two for Early Ohio, Early Rose and Irish Cobbler and one for Burbanks. The number of prizes given each variety in the two previous years. 50 potatoes will be required for each exhibit. Standard size exhibit boxes will be furnished at the Armory.

There will be a school children exhibit. Only 25 potatoes are required for this. Prizes will also be offered for the person bringing an exhibit the largest number of miles and to the person exhibiting the ten largest potatoes.

MORE HOUSES FOR CITY

The members of the Advancement Association are promoting a scheme whereby the serious shortage of houses will be in a measure relieved. If the present plans go through as formulated, a company will be formed for the purpose of building houses and flats to be sold on the easy payment plan. It is not the intention of the organization to make this a great investment proposition, but merely to build and sell the properties at a very nominal cost to the purchaser.

Not only will the present condition of our housing be relieved, it will also provide a means whereby the man with moderate means in a very short time acquires a house of his own at a cost slightly above what he is in the habit of paying on his monthly rental.

The proposition is one that should have the encouragement and support of all enterprising citizens who have the welfare of our city at heart and at least fifty new homes should be built within the coming year. With the demand for labor, in our mills and factories, greater than ever before in the history of our city, Rhinelander bids fair to enjoy the largest growth in its history.

WILL NOT RAISE MILK PRICE HERE

F. W. Meen Says Seven Cents Per Quart Is Enough—Egg Price Soaring

"No, we do not intend to raise the price of milk in Rhinelander," said F. W. Meen of the Rhinelander Creamery & Produce company. "Seven cents a quart is enough. As long as we can hold to this price we are going to do so. Of course, there is but a very small margin of profit in milk at seven cents, and dealers in other cities find that they cannot afford to sell at this price."

When asked if the butter market would continue to advance Mr. Meen replied "Yes, butter is going up by leaps and bounds. It would not surprise me to see it sell at forty cents before Dec. 1. There seems to be no relief in sight. Eggs too are going to soar high; today we are selling fresh eggs at thirty-five cents and another advance is about due. They may go to sixty cents a dozen during the winter and will be scarce at this price. Dealers in Chicago, New York and other cities anticipate that eggs will sell at one dollar a dozen by the first of the coming year."

UNIVERSITY HAS $50,000 FIRE LOSS

But for a hundred students who volunteered their services to the fire department, main hall of the University of Wisconsin, valued at $200,000, would have been destroyed totally by fire Tuesday morning. The combined efforts of the firemen and student volunteers, however, brought the fire under control in two hours and confined the destruction to the dome and central part of the building.

The loss, estimated by H. J. Thorkelson, business manager of the university, is about $50,000, covered by state insurance. This includes the damage to the second and third floors by water. Approximately 1000 students and professors in the building escaped in good order when the fire signal was given.

After the fire in the dome had burned for an hour, Chief C. W. Heyl of the Madison fire department said that the building was doomed. Students and firemen fought steadily at the blaze, however, many narrowly escaping injury when the dome collapsed onto the fourth floor of the hall.

MEN ON BORDER ALLOWED TO VOTE

Legislature Passes Bill Permitting Soldiers To Cast Their Ballot

The Wisconsin legislature in special session Tuesday night passed through both houses a bill to permit soldiers on the border to vote and the measure was sent to the governor for his signature.

The measure provides for a special messenger representing the secretary of state to take the ballots to the border and return with them to the homes of the men for counting. The elections will be conducted by officers of the guard.

A second bill to permit citizens absent from the state to vote by mail also passed both houses.

The legislature held a brief session this morning during which the senate amendment to the Hanson bill, providing for the amendment to the voting by mail law, which sets forth that the new law shall not affect independent candidates in the November election.

James Murphy of Manitowish, democratic candidate for the assembly, was in this city Wednesday. The prospects for his election look very favorable he states.

Mrs. H. F. Steele will entertain at a dancing party at the Guild hall this evening. Music will be furnished by LaMotte's orchestra.

HIMES WRITES OF LIFE ON BORDER

E. C. Sturdevant Receives Interesting Letter From Captain Of Company L

E. C. Sturdevant has received the following interesting letter from Captain Forest Himes of Co. L, at San Antonio, Tex.:

Ours, has been a most instructive trip. It has been hard, we will admit, but the military experience gained both to the men and to the department commanders has been well worth the hardships sustained. We got up every morning at five and sometimes six, ate our breakfast, packed out wagons with the cooking outfits and extra baggage and left for our daily stroll at seven. Reaching camp between twelve and two depending upon the distance to be covered. Eighteen miles was the biggest day's hike and we ate that up like we would pie at Hennessey's cafe. Twelve to fifteen miles was the average hike. Sleeping on the ground with only one blanket between you and mother earth, raised plenty of sore spots. One would get about half way through the night on one side and that would get so sore that you would try the other side but nine times out of ten the sleep had left the other side. We had a Northern strike us two mornings when the thermometer dropped to 50 and 51. It reminded us of home alright and we felt the cold to such an extent that our teeth actually chattered a tune. I had my big sweater vest over my ears and the men crowded about the fire with their blankets over their heads looking like a bunch of Apaches. One cornet player, off in the distance, played "In the Good Old Summer Time" and another fellow answered with "There'll Be A Hot Time, Etc." We reached here at noon after a fourteen mile hike and I want to tell you we are glad to be back. My cot and mattress looks mighty good tonight and I am going to sleep some. When we pulled into camp everybody started a good big noise, expressing their appreciation of being to what we called home. Tomorrow is Military day in San Antonio and the afternoon was spent in cleaning up, preparatory to our big march through the city. They have declared it a holiday and have decorated profusely for the occasion. The entire division marches in the same condition as previously except that we will be clean—"Clean from Rhinelander." We had expected to be home by the fifteenth of October, but latest reports lead me to believe that we will be kept here for some time. At least Funston gave Holway, Williams and Boardman, our home folks, who were here the other day, that much to believe. They asked if we were going to be sent home. If not they would call a special session of the legislature and provide a way for our voting here. Funston's reply was that they better call the special session.

He also said that the Wisconsin troops were the best troops on the border. We have had praise from all sources and feel quite proud of our work. They call us the Iron Brigade. One of the Kansas officers who was on the hike with us said that every few days word would reach the border where they were stationed previously that Wisconsin had broken another record, and then their colonel would take them out and drill them out of them. We came through the march without losing a man, and our battalion has been cited as the best marching unit in the division. Marshfield, Oconto, Rhinelander and Marinette compose the battalion. Everybody is well and all are with the Company. We have had one or two minor cases for the base hospital but they have all returned within two or three days. At the present we have none there. The past three weeks have seen a decided improvement in the Company. Not but what they were good before but they are attaining or adapting themselves to the work more willingly. It has been some satisfaction to me. Previous to this time there has been one or two there always is who seem to do just what they should not do and it makes things rather disagreeable but with the proper persuasion we have eliminated the unpleasant things and our ship is sailing smoothly. The men are taking pride in their personal appearance. There was a time when we first landed that there was no difficulty in distinguishing a Regular from a Militia man but it is hard to tell the difference now. When they go down town they put on their best clothes, clean, neat and tidy and make a very fine appearance. Each is trying to outdo the other.

Drop a line when you can find a spare moment because I appreciate hearing from you. With best regards to all and apologies for mistakes, I am,

Sincerely,
FOREST.

It was stated at the board trade that the northwest had practically no wheat of seed quality and that good seed was now selling at from $4.00 to $5.00 a bushel. As a result of these conditions, millers say flour continues to rise. The special brand were billed at 9.10 a barrel wide. Millers say that if the advance continues, the flour will have to keep pace. Members of the board of trade said that present high prices could not be blamed to the speculators. They say that were it not for the trading on the board of trade, elevator men long ago would have cornered the supply of wheat and wheat would have been much more than at present.

Give Them Help and Many Rhinelander People Will Be Happier "Throw Out the Life Line"

Weak kidneys need help. They're often overworked—they don't get the poison filtered out of the blood.

Will you help them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have brought benefit to thousands of kidney sufferers.

Rhinelanders testimony proves their worth.

Oliver Shorey, stationary engineer, 726 Margaret St., Rhinelander says: "I was bothered a great deal by lame back and pains across my loins. I had been in this shape for some time, but I was troubled mostly while at work. My back was so stiff and lame that it hurt me to stoop or lift and I was also annoyed by kidney weakness. Finally some one advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did. They cured me and I have never had any sign of kidney trouble since."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Shorey had. Foster-McBurn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

LITTLE CHATS ABOUT POULTRY

(By G. E. Conkey)

Are your pullets showing any signs of starting to lay, and if so, are you making suitable preparations for their handling? Many poultry raisers are alive to the important part that good housing and care will play in getting pullets to laying at the proper time, and still year after year the bad weather finds them with preparations incomplete. Many times a few of the birds will actually start laying before anything at all is done.

The first of October is none too early to get the spring hatched birds into their winter quarters, and this would be especially true of Leghorns and other light weight birds. Neglect and carelessness with the pullets at this period may result in the wasting of weeks of time, or even prove serious to their usefulness throughout the early winter months. When handled right, pullets are naturally good winter layers, and there is no good reason why they should not get to laying reasonably early, help pay the feed bills, and still be none the worse for it. Birds that are not forced, will, as a rule, keep in better all around conditions while laying, being far less inclined to take on excess fat.

First of all, make sure that there is the necessary house room for your flock, and have everything up in shape before moving any birds into their new quarters. Make any needed repairs, give the house a good whitewashing, and also wash the windows to let in the light and sunshine. If there are any cloth-covered openings, wash the cloth, or else replace with new, for the pores of the goods are sure to be filled with dust after a season's use. Have the floor well covered with litter so that when grain is fed the birds will be forced to take considerable exercise in finding it, for exercise they must have to keep in good condition.

If there are more birds than it is possible to house comfortably, it will be better to dispose of so much the less desirable ones than to resort to overcrowding, which must always be paid for dearly. The smaller number, well cared for and comfortable, will not only produce more eggs than the larger lot deprived of these essentials, but there will also be a great saving on the feed.

Continue using about the same ration as they have been getting, unless the pullets have been taken off their range, in which case green food would have to be furnished, and perhaps animal matter given more freely. A little variation in the feeding is always appreciated, so try to have as much range in the grains used as possible. In the way of green food there is little danger of giving too much, and once a day the birds should have all they will eat of this. Such things as cabbage and beets are fine for poultry use, but sprouted oats has become very popular for poultry feeding, and oats can always be sprouted when other greens fail.

Animal food is no less important than the green food in arranging a complete or balanced ration for your birds, and it is usually supplied in the form of beef scrap, fish scrap, green bone, or sour milk.

Keep a good dry mash in hoppers where the birds can help themselves at all times, or feed once a day slightly moistened. This is almost indispensable in feeding pullets or laying stock of any kind. For a simple formula the following should answer very nicely, and the ingredients are easily obtained:

100 lbs. bran
100 lbs. ground oats or middlings
100 lbs. cornmeal
50 lbs. beef scrap.
If desired you can use 50 lbs. ground oats and 50 lbs. middlings in place of 100 lbs. of either of these. If much milk is fed, then 25 lbs. of the beef scrap will do. To each 100 lbs. of mixture there should then be added:

5 lbs. ground bone
3 lbs. fine charcoal
½ lb. salt.

In the way of grain, equal parts, by measure, of wheat, oats and cracked corn will answer nicely, though a little of such grains as kaffir corn, barley, buckwheat and millet seed will add to the variety and can be included when the price will allow. Anything that can be fed in a litter should be given in this way, always regulating the amount to keep the birds busy most of the time. Remember that the amount of exercise taken by your birds will depend largely on the way you feed the grain, and the quantity given at a feeding. There are no set rules to cover such things, and you will have to exercise your own good judgment here. Try to start your pullets laying while the weather conditions are still favorable.

There is a Real Difference

Cream of tartar, derived from grapes, is used in Royal Baking Powder because it is the best and most healthful ingredient known for the purpose.

Phosphate and alum, which are derived from mineral sources, are used in some baking powders, instead of cream of tartar, because they are cheaper.

If you have been induced to use baking powders made from alum or phosphate, use Royal Baking Powder instead. You will be pleased with the results and the difference in the quality of the food.

For the cause that lacks assistance;
For the wrong that needs resistance;
For the future in the distance
And the good that we can do."

We wonder if the men who are piling up soil in the middle of the road so high that it injures the automobiles as they go over, and call this road-building, realize that they are violating the law by so doing.

With the November election less than four weeks away the local political pot does not seem to be letting off steam with any degree of intensity. The slam-bang method of conducting county campaigns is evidently a thing of the past.

The only way to show an assessment is unjust and discriminative is to make comparisons. If a man is unwilling to have these comparisons made regarding his property, he knows he is under-assessed, and wants this discrimination.

Every just man wishes uniformity of assessment.

A new state normal school in Rhinelander would have as one of its courses, the rural school course, now the work of the Oneida County Training school. Consequently, our Training school could be abolished, and the two thousand dollars which the county board now appropriates to run the Training school could be saved.

The Union Express company of this city should have two express wagons or else have an auto truck to do their delivery work. Before consolidation, both the American Express and Western Express companies had express wagons, and now one wagon is doing the work for both companies. More, the express business has grown greatly the past year and we believe would expand much more if delivery services could be improved. The splendid patronage of the express companies in the city of Rhinelander entitles the public to better delivery service.

BEST SITE FOR NORMAL.
The Board of Regents of State Normal schools do not demand any particular site for the new normal school location in Rhinelander, but when the board was in the city they were distinctly given to understand that they could have the Brown property on the Pelican river on south Oneida Avenue if they wished it and they preferred this location. This is certainly a beautiful spot for a state normal and we believe should be purchased by the city council at once for this purpose. Of course, the possibility of purchase must to some extent, depend upon the asking price, but we hope Brown Bros. will see their way to sell at a figure that the property can be purchased. The quicker this matter is settled, the quicker, we believe, the legislature will appropriate for the new normal school buildings. Delays are dangerous.

The city board of review is now struggling with the valuations as set by the assessor and surely have their troubles. While a large part of the property is put at a much higher figure than it can be sold for, a large part is set at a much lower assessment than it will sell for. While the prevailing assessment of many inside lots has been placed at four hundred eighty dollars irrespective of the selling price, there is a large collection of lots assessed at six hundred dollars irrespective of the price at which they have sold. Many of the latter would quickly sell at from one thousand to fifteen hundred dollars each. If the property of the men who are assessed too high is properly adjusted, only one half of the evil has been overcome, for it is just as essential that a large list of tax-payers be raised in assessment as it is to lower those assessed too high.

The prevailing assessment for many valuable corners is seven hundred twenty dollars. The majority of these lots can not be purchased for fifteen hundred dollars. The same ridiculous assessment has been made in the case of frontage of business blocks, much of the less desirable property is much too high and much of the best is much too low. An unwise assessment is a great injustice to a community. We certainly do not wish a position on this board of review. However, the men are trying to do their best to do justice to all.

THE TIGHTEST MONOPOLY.
The anthracite coal monopoly appears to be impregnable. The power of the courts is concerned. Attorney General Gregory, in the brief for the Supreme court filed in the appeal of the government's suit against the trust, practically admits as much.

He describes the Reading company as "the backbone of the alleged monopoly of anthracite" and prophesies that unless the combination is dissolved "it will own or control every ton of commercially available anthracite known to exist." In almost any other industry profits so enormous as those it reaps would attract fresh capital and result in competition. But the supply of anthracite is limited to the fields in one part of Pennsylvania.

Thus far neither the Sherman act nor the commodities clause of the railroad rate act has availed to break the monopoly. The Reading company is a holding company that controls both the mines and the railroad. Control of transportation secures control of coal deposits. The other companies are practically if not legally partners of the Reading. No opportunity is lost to advance the price of anthracite on the unscrupulous principles of charging "all the market will bear."

And even if the Supreme court should find a way to order the dissolution of the combination, convenience with the oil and tobacco trust dissolutions lends little encouragement that there would be any decrease in the price of anthracite.

The attorney general in these circumstances suggests that new laws must be passed to reach the monopoly, though he does not go into details. In view of the completeness of the monopoly, its grasping policy, and the public necessity of which it takes such selfish advantage, the condemnation and acquisition of the coal fields by the public in some form may yet be found necessary.—Minneapolis Journal.

Mr. Voter what will they do to you when they get absolute control of the water powers of the country.

WILSON MAKING GAINS.
(Note.—The New York Herald, which is supporting Hughes, prints, Sunday, the third installment of its political poll forecasting the November vote.)

New York.—The third week of The Herald's straw vote, canvass of the nation finds President Wilson making gains. Charles E. Hughes losing some of the lead he had last week, and everything shaping up for a neck and neck race for the presidency, with New York state likely to be the determining factor.

The Empire state in the straw vote tabulation is placed in the Wilson column, but it is unquestionably a doubtful state. If the straw vote percentages were carried out to a conclusion now, the state would go to Mr. Hughes, because he is running ahead up state, where the bigger vote is cast, while the president is running ahead in New York city, where there is a big vote, but smaller than the rest of the state.

The Herald in this preliminary review credits the Democracy with New York, because of the total number of straw votes taken there the president is in the lead, though by only 617 votes out of a total of 12,288.

In the same way, Illinois is credited to Mr. Hughes, because the total vote there places him in the lead by 1,067 although no votes were taken in Chicago, the Democratic stronghold of Illinois.

DESERVE MUCH CREDIT.
To Hon. D. B. Stevens, former assemblyman from this district, belongs a large amount of the credit for the affirmative vote last Saturday granting to Rhinelander the next state normal school. Eight years ago next January Mr. Stevens started this ball rolling when several other cities put in bills for normal schools. Ever since this move was inaugurated it has been Mr. Stevens' fondest hope to see Rhinelander land this plum. After his faithful work in the legislature two sessions he then turned his mission over to his son, Senator W. T. Stevens who has done everything in his power in the legislature and with the normal regents of the state to secure the institution. It is our sincerest hope that the first dormitory erected will be named Stevens' dormitory. Of course, many others have given time and money to this cause, but a great share of the glory belongs to the Stevens family. Every letter that the Hon. D. B. has written to his son, Senator Will, has urged upon him to put forth every effort to bring the new normal school to Rhinelander.

U. S. MAY BAR NEW U RAIDS

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 11.—Secretary of State Lansing on Wednesday left for Washington after a long conference with President Wilson on new problems raised by activities of the German submarine U-53 off the American coast.

The impression prevails here that Germany acted entirely in accordance with her promises to this government in her operations on British shipping off Nantucket shoals on Sunday.

But while methods employed by the commander of the U-53 appear to comply with this government's stipulations, the larger question now is whether the United States can tolerate further submarine activities outside her port, menacing commerce and constantly exposing to danger the lives of American men, women and children. There is a strong undercurrent of feeling against any such continued practice.

Scores of telegrams have been received by the president from business interests demanding that sharp reminders must be given Germany that she can not virtually "blockade the ports of the United States."

Some advise that the action of this government should not be limited to mere protest.

It is likely that steps will be taken at once to get further information as to Germany's future intentions—if these have not already been ascertained by our navy upon their German plans to make her campaign against enemy shipping on this side of the Atlantic permanent.

It war or the widow of a soldier, sailor or marine of the civil war, war with Mexico or war of 1812 and who has reached the age of seventy years, may receive a pension of $20 a month. It is stated that she is not required to file a lot of information or employ a pension attorney or agent. In fact such agent will not be recognized by the government. All she has to do is to write a letter to the commissioner of pensions, stating in that letter her pension certificate number, the name and service of the soldier, sailor or marine, the exact date and the place of her birth, her name as it now appears in the pension certificate and her present postoffice address.

"If the evidence shows that she is entitled to the benefits under the act, the bureau, as soon as possible will grant the increase. In cases of widows of soldiers, sailors or marines, married after the war, but before June 27, 1908, it is required that formal application shall be made.

"The information in the letter indicates that it is only widows who have attained the age of seventy years and who are now receiving pensions, who may obtain an increase."

Scottish Names.

No country has experienced the difficulty arising from the commonness of one surname in a district more intensely than Scotland. With a whole countryside populated by Campbells, Frasers or Gordons, some more distinguishing nomenclature had to be found. And no doubt this was the chief reason why at one time men were always known by the name of their estate or farm. Dean Ramsay remembered an old cowherd who was always known as Boggie. His real name was Sandy Anderson, but he had once owned a wretched farm called Boggendreep, and he was Boggie to the day of his death.

Why He Resembled His Parents.
A bachelor friend of the young couple was being entertained at dinner, and during the evening he was presented by the proud mother to her infant son.

"Now, Fred, which of us do you think he is like?" she asked gaily, holding up the baby for inspection.

The guest viewed the tiny mite for a moment as he replied, "Well, of course intelligence has not really dawned in his countenance yet, but he's wonderfully like both of you!"—Youth's Companion.

No Precaution Neglected.
The little son of a clergyman recently appeared at breakfast with distinct evidences of a hastily made toilet.

"Why, Edmund," his mother remonstrated, "I tell you forgot to brush your hair!"

"I was in such a hurry to get to school," he explained.

"I hope you didn't forget to say your prayers?" she asked anxiously.

"No, sirree!" was the emphatic assurance. "That's one thing I never forget. Safety first!"—Harper's Magazine.

GRIDIRON GOSSIP

(By Peter Knipple)

A hoodoo of some sort is stalking on the football fields this season, which is evident by some of the surprise packages that have been handed some of the large University gridiron aspirants by college teams that are mere infants in comparison with the University elevens.

Carleton met Chicago in a football game on Saturday and trimmed the Maroons by a 7 to 0 score.

Down in Cambridge Tufts College a mere nothing compared with some of the big eastern elevens, defeated Harvard, 7 to 3.

Marquette had to play hard for their 7 to 0 victory over Milwaukee Normal, whereas in previous years the Normalites were but a mere practice game for the Gold and Blue.

Coach Whittington's Wisconsin Varsity squad barely succeeded in downing the Lawrence team by a score of 20 to 0.

Last, but not least, Tomahawk walloped our local aggregation of gridiron stars by a 22 to 0 count. The boys made a poor showing at the hatchet city, and will have to show more pep if they expect to slip one over on the down state team when Merrill plays here Saturday.

Medford and Minocqua played to a 0 to 0 tie Saturday.

3 BOYS IN BAD

Confined in the county jail are three Three Lakes boys, Joe Pliska, Marcy Koshuta and Earl Ostermeyer, ranging in ages from 14 to 16 years, will be arraigned before Judge H. F. Steele in the juvenile court on the charge of general delinquency.

Breaking into and looting summer homes in the vicinity of Three Lakes is the accusation made against the youthful trio. The boys were arrested in a dense swamp by Deputy Sheriff James R. Nelson and three other Three Lakes citizens after a long chase through the woods. Deputy Nelson said that when the boys were apprehended they were well supplied with guns and ammunition, although they made no attempt to use their weapons. Deputy Nelson brought the young prisoners to this city Wednesday afternoon.

The supposition is that the court will sentence the boys to the state industrial school in Waukesha.

JIM DUTCH CALLS ON OLD FRIENDS

One of the worst railroad disasters in the history of this district of the Soo line, occurred two or two years ago last Sunday when passenger train No. 7 plunged from the bridge over Rice river near Heald Junction. Two trains cut the piling supporting the structure with the conviction that every person on the train would be killed or badly hurt when it fell into the stream below. They intended to loot the pockets of the dead and helpless. This was on the night of October 8, 1894. The locomotive and every car, except one sleeper, crashed into the river or toppled down the embankment. Fireman Charles Cattrell was killed and several injured. The funds who committed this dastardly crime were later captured and sentenced to 103 terms in the penitentiary.

James Dutch, who was in Rhinelander Sunday, was the engineer on the ill fated train and it seems a coincidence that he should visit this city just twenty-two years to a day from the date of the wreck. When the train went down Mr. Dutch was thrown about 20 feet from the locomotive cab. He suffered a broken leg, a broken nose and was painfully bruised about the body.

Mr. Dutch is a veteran engineer who entered the employ of the Soo line August 7, 1887 and was retired from service a few years ago on a good pension. He now lives in Minneapolis and is considered a wealthy man. He and his wife spent their winters in California. Mr. Dutch became lonesome for old Rhinelander friends and that explains his visit here. Mrs. Dutch accompanied him.

HUNTERS HERE DO NO BIRD KILLING

Owing to the scarcity of partridges-Rhinelander sportsmen are doing little hunting of the birds this fall. One prominent local nimerd, who usually bags dozens of partridges each year, told a New North man Tuesday that he had not been in the woods this season. "I intend to lay off bird hunting this fall," he said, "and I feel that every true sportsman should do likewise. Partridges are scarce and all that are shot this season means a decrease in next year's supply and so on each year until the birds will finally cease to be found in this part of the country. The birds should not be hunted for at least three years and there should be a state law to this effect."

According to reports of woodsmen and settlers deer are plentiful in Oneida and adjoining counties. This is due largely to the one buck law, which allows only one deer to each hunter and that a buck.
